Representative’s authority shall at all times be subject to the limitations set forth in this Agreement. Representative shall not and shall not represent to anyone that Representative has authority to, bind the Firm by any promise, agreement, or obligation except as specifically authorized by the Firm in writing. Representative shall have the authority to sign investment management or advisory agreements with Clients; provided, however, such agreements will not be binding on the Firm, unless and until countersigned by a duly authorized officer of the Firm. Representative’s authority is also limited by all applicable requirements and prohibitions including, without limitation: (i) federal and state securities, insurance, and other laws, rules, regulations, interpretations, and opinions; (ii) common law; (iii) court and administrative orders; (iv) the Firm’s internal rules, regulations, policies, procedures, manuals, and instructions; (v) the Firm’s subadviser or solicitors agreements (if any); (vi) any other contracts governing the provision of the services through the Firm; and (vii) with respect to each Client, the terms and conditions of the Client services agreement, new Client intake forms, investment guidelines (if any), and other investment instructions (together, the “Applicable Requirements”). Representative’s actions or omissions in violation of the Applicable Requirements are outside Representative’s authority.

b. Required Insurance. During the term of this Agreement, if Representative and Firm determine that Representative is not sufficiently covered by the Firm’s insurance policies, Representative may obtain additional insurance coverage (including, by way of example, property, casualty, and personal liability insurance). All such insurance coverage shall protect against such losses and be in such amounts as are required by Applicable Requirements, as in effect from time to time. The Firm shall be named as an additional insured under such policies. Upon request, Representative shall provide the Firm with certificates demonstrating that such insurance is in full force and effect.

c. Tax-Related Obligations. As an independent contractor, Representative, and not the Firm, will be solely responsible for paying any and all income taxes, estimated or withholding taxes, and other applicable payments due to any governmental agency with respect to Representative’s business activities under this Agreement. Representative may not hire, retain, or otherwise make arrangements to have any other person involved in any way, except as specifically authorized by the Firm. If the Firm authorizes Representative to hire an employee under the terms of this Section, Representative’s employee shall always be under Representative’s supervision and control and shall be Representative’s responsibility in every respect. Representative’s employee shall be governed and bound by the various provisions contained in this Agreement. Depending upon Representative’s employee’s proposed activities, he/she may be required by to sign an Investment Adviser Representative Agreement, but he/she will continue to be Representative’s sole responsibility in every respect. Nothing in this Agreement modifies Representatives employment relationship with Signal Advisors USA, Inc. (“Signal USA”), including but not limited to Representative’s at-will status. Any compensation provided to Representative in connection with this Agreement is not employment or wage compensation, but rather is being paid by Firm to Representative as an independent contractor of Firm. Unless separately agreed to in writing, this Agreement shall automatically terminate if Representative’s employment with Signal USA terminates. For avoidance of doubt, this Agreement

Firm may supervise and request on-going information about any securities related Outside Business Activity. Representative shall disclose all actual or perceived conflicts of interest affecting Firm or any Client that may arise out of any Outside Business Activity. For this purpose, Representative shall also disclose to Firm any such conflicts of interest with respect to any member of Representative's family. Representative's tuition, travel, and lodging expenses to attend such programs shall be Representative's responsibility unless otherwise agreed by the Firm.

h. Compliance Infractions. In the event of Representative's material breach of compliance-related Applicable Requirements, in lieu of (or in addition to) terminating this Agreement, Firm may elect to charge, and Representative agrees to timely pay, such reasonable fines as may be prescribed by Firm Policies. Firm may apply such fines to mitigate regulatory expenses incurred with respect to such compliance infractions or may donate such funds to third-party 501(c)(3) charitable organizations.

If the Firm refunds advisory fees with respect to which compensation was already paid to Representative, then any related compensation previously received by Representative shall be promptly refunded by Representative to the Firm or, in the Firm's discretion, it may be deducted from other compensation that is or may later become due to Representative from the Firm. The Firm may, in its discretion, deduct from Representative's compensation any other sums which may be due and payable under the terms of this Agreement or any other agreement between the parties. Compensation to Representative may be reduced by any amounts owed by Representative to the Firm under this Agreement or otherwise. If the Firm denies any claim for compensation or claims setoff against amounts otherwise owing to Representative, then the amount in controversy will not be deemed due to Representative unless and until the obligation is finally determined by settlement or arbitration.
